

» Home

Maine Lobster Chef of the Year Finalists Named

09/28/2012 09:23 AM ET

Three chefs have been named finalists in this year's Maine Lobster Chef of the Year competition.

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) _ The Maine Lobster Promotion Council says Kerry Altiero of Cafe Miranda in Rockland, Mackenzie Arrington of The Dutch in New York City, Melissa Bouchard, DiMillo's in Portland will compete for the title.

The winner will be crowned on Oct. 25 when an audience casts votes at the Harvest on the Harbor food festival in Portland after sampling the three finalists' dishes. A three-judge panel of food aficionados will also pick a winner.

The winner gets $1,000. The two runner-ups get $500 each.

(Copyright 2012 by The Associated Press. All Rights Reserved.)

Return!

Recommend this

Become a Fan of the NEW MPBNNews Facebook page. Get news, updates and unique content to share and discuss:

MPBN News

You li Page

Recommended by our audience on Facebook:

Recommendations

- Kennebunk Prostitution Case Puts Maine Newsrooms in Quandary
4 people recommended this.
- Dozens of Mainers on Boy Scout 'Perversion' List
One person recommended this.
- Maine Couple Launches Community-Supported Brewery
18 people recommended this.

Facebook social plugin